

TASA delivers 10,000 masks donated by Grobest

Lima, August 11th, 2020.- The Peruvian fishing company TASA began this week the distribution of 10,000 masks donated by Grobest, a leading global manufacturer of natural, antibiotic-free feed products for an environmentally friendly and sustainable aquaculture. This donation from Grobest, demonstrates commitment to one of its core values: sustainability.

Hence, Grobest entrusted TASA with coordinating the delivery of 10,000 masks to protect first line of defense personnel from Covid-19 contagion, such as members of the National Peruvian Police, municipal security guards and health personnel, in addition to artisanal fishermen. This week the donation of masks was finalized in the ports of Atico, Matarani, Chimbote and Samanco.

Louis Rens, Commercial Vice President was quoted “TASA would like to thank Grobest for their support, which reflects the strong partnership both parties have developed over the years. TASA and Grobest share this spirit of solidarity and the vocation to support the communities where each operate.”

This donation channeled through TASA adds to the permanent support that the Peruvian fishing industry has been providing since the beginning of the health emergency caused by COVID-19, to the coastal communities where it operates. To date, the economic contribution of TASA amounts to more than 585,000 Peruvian Soles in supplies, monitors, respirators, kitchen equipment for hospitals, oxygen, alcohol, disposable gloves, masks and personal protective equipment, among others.
